Did You Know

By Pat J. Kline

THAT Pickaway-co furnished the youngest enlisted soldier in the Civil War. He was Joseph Fissell, son of John Fissell, born in Circleville, Sept. 1, 1851. He enlisted in Co. A, 45th Regiment I. O. V. at Darbyville, Aug. 1, 1862, at the age of 10 years and 11 months. He was mustered in at Camp Chase Aug. 19, 1862, and was mustered out with his regiment at Camp Harker, Tenn., June 12, 1865, after serving two years, ten months and 12 days.

That 40 years ago Circleville was represented with an amateur orchestra composed of young men of the city. It included Dudley Courtwright, first violin; George Williams, second violin; Samuel P. ... bass; Dug ... trombone; Earl Lutz, cornet; Frank ... second cornet; Jay Tracey, flute; and Frank Pichel, clarinet.

That Circleville had an active temperance society 80 years ago. It was known as the Circleville Temperance Society and held weekly meetings at the United Brethren church. The organization journeyed to Columbus on the Columbus and Portsmouth packets on the canal in march to hear General Sam Houston of Texas in a fiery dry talk.

THAT 40 YEARS AGO HARRY E. WEILL, CLERK OF THE BOARD OF ELECTIONS, WAS SECRETARY OF THE WESTERN COAL AND MINING CO. AT COLORADO SPRINGS, COL.

THAT the names of three Ohio counties were derived as follows:

HARDIN-co, 1838—Named for Gen. John Hardin, an officer of the Revolutionary War. He was killed by the Indians while on a peace mission to them sent by George Washington.

GUERNSEY-co, 1810—Said to be named for the Isle of Guernsey because some of the early settlers came from there.

LAKE-co, 1840—So named because of its frontage on Lake Erie.

That Fred Wittich of W. Main-st had a narrow escape from death 40 years ago this month. The Herald of Oct. 10, 1890, records his narrow escape as follows:

Fred Wittich, three-year-old son of Ed. Wittich had a narrow escape from fatal injury Monday evening. While riding his tricycle on the pavement near Wagner's block, it ran into the gutter and under a horse. The animal became frightened and rearing up, struck the child, dislocating his shoulder and fracturing his arm. He was rescued by Frank Fomagh.

That 40 years ago Allen T. (Luddy) Hammel was on the job as a lithographer for Shaw's circus.

That a bay horse ridden in the Civil War in 1864 by Major Peter Lutz of the 92nd O. V. I. died in Circleville Feb. 26, 1890, at the age of 27 years from the effects of an injury received during the war, 26 years before.

That it was an easy task to obtain money "when you found yourself in a tight place" 80 years ago. An advertisement of The People's Bank of which S. Marfield was president appearing in The Herald of that time reveals this fact:

"The People's Bank will be found exceedingly convenient when a man gets in a tight place—as held always keeps money on hand for such occasions."

CITIES SEEK LOWER RATES

Heavy Fight Against Present Utility Costs Planned By Communities.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—A declaration of independence against public utility corporations, drawn up here yesterday by representatives of 50 Ohio cities, today threatened a heavy bombardment against utility rates and the state utility commission at the next session of the legislature.

Following a demand for complete abolition of the utilities commission, the representatives organized themselves into the Ohio Association on Public Utilities Questions, and promised an inquiry of utility rates and practices.

The association's efforts will be concentrated on an attempt to obtain "flat" rates. John M. Lewis, president of the Columbus city council, was elected president.

GO TO LEGISLATURE

"We are going to carry this fight to the January session of the state legislature and make public utilities one of the leading issues," the president said.

Fred W. Warner of Marion made an outright demand for abolition of the commission, and was supported by Mayor F. E. Thompson of Maumee.

"There is no reason why the utilities should be a monopoly," he said. (Continued on Page Three).

DOWNING CASE SET NOV. 16

Man Denies Guilt Before Judge Scarlett Today; Attorney Appointed.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—A plea of not guilty was entered by John (Red) Downing, 42-year-old paroled Cincinnati convict, when he was arraigned before Judge Henry L. Scarlett in Franklin-co criminal court here today on charges of the first degree murder of Mrs. Daniel Bonzo, 44.

Mrs. Bonzo, wife of the chief record clerk at Ohio penitentiary, was slain early this week in her home.

Downing, who was arrested shortly after the discovery of the crime, allegedly confessed to the slaying in a signed statement according to police.

Wednesday, Nov. 16, was set by Judge Scarlett as the date of Downing's trial. Myron Gessman of Columbus, was appointed to act as the ex-convict's counsel.

The question of Downing's sanity will be raised sometime within the next few days. Prosecutor Donald J. Hoskins said, resulting in a mental examination of the prisoner.

MAN IS SLAIN

FREMONT, Oct. 28.—The body of John W. Herman, 52, a prominent Fremont real estate operator, was found in his office in the downtown section here today.

Slumped in a chair in front of a desk the body was still warm when it was discovered by a mail carrier. A shot gun believed by authorities to have been the death weapon was found in the hall near the door.

Samuel McKenny, after a preliminary examination, withheld his verdict and began inquiry. Police expressed the possibility that the man might have been slain during a robbery attempt.

SCOUTERS CALLED

A meeting of the district Boy Scout troop committee has been called for Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Donahy Unable to Accept Invitation Because of Health, He Says

MEETING THURSDAY

Bulkley to be Here Tuesday Morning

Unable to secure the services of A. Vic Donahy, former Governor, as the principle speaker for the Democratic rally next Thursday evening because of illness, C. A. Leist, chairman of the Pickaway-co executive committee, announced Saturday that Theodore Tangeman, director of commerce, will be the leading speaker.

Other speakers will include Mrs. Hulse Hayes, this city, who talks on "The Hoover Administration from a Housewife's Standpoint," Moll G. Underwood, of New Lexington, candidate for reelection to Congress and Stanley Schwartz and August Weber, both of Columbus, candidates for the state senate. Several state candidates are expected to attend the meeting.

BEGIN AT 7:30

The program will begin at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, Mr. Leist announced, with music to be provided by the school band and the Democratic Mixed Glee Club.

Donahy has been making a number of addresses through the state but in the past week has been suffering from a heavy cold. He fears to continue his addresses would impair his health.

FLUENT SPEAKER

Mr. Tangeman comes here with the reputation of being the most fluent speaker in Governor George White's cabinet. The speaker is director of the department of commerce, and has been making a number of addresses in the interest of the White administration.

Tangeman will spend the first part of next week in Washington, D. C. but will return in time for his address here.

Candidates Begin Final Drive For County Ballots

Only Ten Days Remain in One of Hottest Campaigns in History; Much Work to be Done by All Aspirants During Week; Election of Nov. 8

The home stretch of one of the hottest political campaigns in history was entered today with the election only 10 days away — on Nov. 8.

The coming week will witness more radio addresses, more "mud-slinging," more prevaricating — we're sorry to say — because there has been plenty of it going on, then at any time during the campaign.

The radio speeches will be made by national candidates and their champions and a glance at radio programs discloses that talks are scheduled for almost every evening between now and election. "Mud-slinging" is not confined to the national campaign but to the state and even the county fight. Reports each day have been drifting either and you through the usually clear air of Pickaway-co that one candidate is saying this and another is saying that — but, of course, some people enjoy passing around things they know are untrue.

INTEREST MOUNTING

All five contests in Pickaway-co have waxed warmer during the past week and all candidates already are claiming victory. Some apparently will be surprised, since in most cases only one person can have the office which two seek. One of the warmest contests observed so far is that for the commissioners' posts in which Ralph May and Burr Rader, Democrats, are seeking to oust the Republican office-holders, Marvin Dreisbach and Edgar W. Beatty.

Going down the list the voter finds the prosecuting attorney's office being sought by two men, Emmett L. Crist, asking reelection on his record with the Democratic force back of him, and Ray W. Davis, Monroe-twp. native, seeking the post of the Republican side of the ballot.

Mary C. Morris, Democrat incumbent, and George E. Roth, Republican, are aspirants to the recorder's job and Charles C. Young. (Continued on Page Three)

GYPSY HUNTED

Man Steals Money From Columbus Dealer; Take Some From County.

Pickaway and Franklin-co officers were searching, Saturday for a gypsy who stole $14 from a Columbus vegetable stand operator Friday afternoon. The man, said to have been driving a Chevrolet car, bought some apples from the stand and after he had departed the proprietor, John Bradford, observed that his purse was missing. A call was sent here when it was learned the gypsy band had headed this way. Sheriff Charles Radcliff went north on Route 23 and Deputy Bryan Custer traveled Route 104 seeking the thief. Three car-loads of gypsies were rounded up but the man sought made his escape.

Local authorities escorted the gypsies to the Ross-co line and notified Deputy Sheriff Ben Routh of Ross-co, who led them through his county.

HUNT BODY AS BOYS ADMIT KILLING

Police of Shawano, Wis., are searching for the body of Edward Angerman, 70, of Tigertown, Wis., after hearing Peterson Stevens, 12 (right), and his brother Joseph, 13, relate that they had slain Angerman on his farm. The boys told the story to the police after they were picked up while driving a stolen automobile, according to police. According to the boys' story, Joseph shot Angerman in a quarrel during which the farmer shook Peterson. The boys gave only general directions as to where the body of Angerman, missing since October 17, could be found.

CORN HUSKING CHAMPS NAMED

Madison and Paulding-Co Men Carry Off State Honors At Hebron.

NEWARK, Oct. 29.—Ohio's corn-husking championship was shared today by Wilbur Brown of London, and Lester Anthony of Paulding-co, whose speed at ripping off the ears yesterday brought such cheers as usually are heard only at football games.

The two victors in the third annual state contest held at Hebron, near here, will represent Ohio in the national corn husking derby in Henry-co, Illinois, on Nov. 10.

SET HIGH MARK

In the period of one hour and 20 minutes allowed the contestants, Brown proved speediest at husking corn from the shock. He husked 138.5 pounds of marketable corn, the judges ruled.

Husking from the stalk, Anthony turned out 1467.48 pounds. Others finishing high in the contests were: From stalk—Everett King of Coshocton-co, second, 1395 pounds; Alva Weise, Madison-co, third; Earl Speise of Marion-co, fourth; Ulace O'Dell of Butler-co, fifth, and George Greenway of Allen-co sixth.

From shock, George Reisinger of Licking-co, second, 1134 pounds; Lester Goodyear of Delaware-co, third; John Gillespie of Licking-co, fourth.

Will Anderson and Dorsey Bumgarner, Pickaway-co's representatives, failed to finish among the leaders.

JOHNSON PREPARES ATTACK ON HOOVER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, Progressive Republican of California, today prepared his Los Angeles campaign speeches after taking the stump here last night to bitterly attack President Hoover and to urge support for the candidacy of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee. With the vigor of his campaigning in earlier years, Senator Johnson pledged support to Roosevelt and scored those who took issue with him for bolting the Republican party.

He went back to the 1928 presidential campaign and said that Republican promises then had failed of fulfillment. He condemned the entire record of the present administration, challenging Republican statements of the seriousness of the national situation.

TWO AUTOS STOLEN, ONE IS RECOVERED

The Essex sedan of Dr. E. R. Bales, stolen from its parking place on Pinckney-st Friday night, was found Saturday morning near the C. E. Groce farm in Wayne-twp. Three tires had been stolen from the automobile.

Clarence Barnes, 719 S. Court-st, reported his Studebaker car stolen from his residence Friday night.

Petty thieves removed a Mason tire with a rim from the car of Nolan Sims, E. Main-st.

Charges Roosevelt Changed Mind on Deal

ALBANY, Oct. 29.—Smiling and happy because his old-time friendship with Former Governor Al Smith had been completely re-established and all the bitterness of the Democratic national convention forgotten, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt was to leave at noon today on his whirlwind invasion of New England.

In one of the most dramatic incidents of the presidential campaign, Roosevelt and Smith, set side by side in the executive mansion last night for nearly an hour, chatting in complete harmony and renewing the friendship which was shattered nearly a year ago.

HOPE FOR VICTORY

When the harmony conference had been concluded, Al Smith was again the "happy warrior," and Gov. Roosevelt was more confident than ever that the Democratic national ticket would be swept into the White House on Nov. 8 by the greatest landslide in history.

It was their first conference since early last winter before Smith announced that he was a candidate for the presidential nomination. Both their actions and their words, as they sat beside each other on a sofa, made it evident that the "harmony conference" was "on the level" and that they were once again the pals of old.

Roosevelt and Smith shook hands at the recent Democratic state convention in Albany but their meeting last night was far more impressive and left no doubt that their differences had been ironed out.

CONFER FOR HOUR

After they had been closeted together for nearly an hour, newspapermen were ushered into the room. Smith had his right hand on Roosevelt's shoulder and was smoking his characteristic black cigar. Roosevelt's face was as placid as a child's.

POLICE TRAP, KILL BANDITS

Officer Disguises As Woman Sits In Car When Thugs Attempt Robbery.

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 29.—Two unidentified bandits were shot to death today and three others escaped by running a gauntlet of gunfire in a state police trap in a lone lover's lane at Blackwood, N. J., near here.

The troopers, one disguised as a woman, set a trap for the gang believed responsible for the robbing of couples parked in the lane.

The gun-play occurred shortly after midnight when a car, carrying five men stopped near the machine containing the troopers, disguised as a woman, and his companion. A third officer hid in a nearby thicket with a riot gun.

When one of the bandits thrust a rifle into the officers' car with the command to "stick 'em up," the troopers opened fire. The bandits dropped dead from a bullet that shattered his face. Fire from the concealed riot gun dropped the second bold-up man. As the volley of shots continued the three men escaped, though police believe one was wounded.

ROOF DIVORCE

Mrs. Ida B. Roof, through her attorney, Barton Walters, failed an action for divorce against Charles E. Roof, in the Court of Common Pleas Saturday charging gross neglect of duty.

The plaintiff asks no alimony, but seeks to be restored to her former name of Ida B. Woolver. She also asks that the defendant be barred of any interest in her real estate, consisting of houses and lots in Circleville, and a small farm near Piquette, Monroe-twp. The parties were married June 8th, 1923, at Circleville, and have no children by this union.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Mrs. Louise Bennett, S. Court-st, was discharged from Berger hospital Saturday in a much improved condition after undergoing an operation.

HOOVER TO WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—In a belligerent mood, and heartened by the reception which he received from the Republicans of Indiana, President Hoover resumed his personal campaign for reelection today across the doubtful state of West Virginia. Mr. Hoover's combativeness as the campaign enters its final stages is progressive!

RITCHIE, ALSO

The fact that he was compelled to share the political spotlight in Indianapolis with Governor Herbert C. Ritchie of Maryland, speaks for itself.

BULKLEY HERE TUESDAY

Robert J. Bulkley, of Cleveland, Democratic candidate to succeed himself as U. S. senator, will be in Circleville Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. Mrs. Jennie Duncan, announced Saturday, and will give a party in the party hall at the American hotel.

Bulkley will be in the city for 30 minutes. He will speak at noon Tuesday at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce and will make an address at Parkview at 7:30 p. m.

ing the same night for Governor Roosevelt, seemed only to add fuel to the fire which the president directed against his Democratic opponent.

For the first time in the campaign, Mr. Hoover delivered a slashing personal attack on Governor Roosevelt all along the political front.

He coined a new phrase to describe the Democratic candidate's utterances—"self-interested attitude"—which another Republican candidate for the presidency and a Roosevelt, at that once phrased as "this short sighted word." He charged that Governor Roosevelt "in broadcasting to the American people these self-interested inexcusableness." In this connection he went at length into and quoted copiously from Governor Roosevelt's speeches in the week.

Mr. Hoover went beyond Governor Roosevelt's speech in attacking his record and his campaign. Characterizing as "a tragedy" the campaign.

COURT OF APPEALS SESSION CALLED

The district Court of Appeals scheduled to have been in session here Tuesday, will not convene according to word received by Ford M. Picken, clerk of courts.

Only two cases are to be submitted; a bastardy case of Hazel Ives against Harley Rutter, and a suit of Kiser against Petera. The late Irvin F. Snyder was an attorney in both cases. Charles H. May now has the Kaiser against Petera case which will be submitted through briefs while an attorney for Miss Ives has not been announced.

The Newell McNeal appeal on error will not be taken up by the court of appeals unless in another county, expected to be Ross-co, in December. McNeal's attorneys filed briefs and their petition in error in the clerk's office, Friday.

TWO PRISONERS MAY BE PAROLED

Two Pickaway-co prisoners in the Mansfield reformatory will be eligible for parole hearings on Nov. 7 according to J. J. Feeney, parole clerk.

The two Ernest Leubensheimer of Harrison-twp, serving one to 20 for forgery, and Cosie English, serving one to 15 years for burglary and larceny. Both pleaded guilty last Jan. 16.

Tiger Roars

Can you imagine Margaret Bower losing weight? John Moore keeping quiet? Mary Gephart acting dignified? The teachers giving a party for the students? Gene Rader with long curls. Oh we can't either!

John Markey was probably born with a gold ladle in his mouth.

Dean White: "There was something I wanted to say to you but I forgot what it was."

Betty Nelson: "Was it 'good night'?"

The ideal student — John Ammer.

Personality — Ellen Bennett.

Best overcoat — swaggarer — Bob Wilson.

A pair of snappy eyes — Katherine Brown.

Paul W.: "You know, there's no turtleneck in this soup."

Ruth Henderson: "And if you look closely you will find no horse in the horseshoe."

Ned Griner: "Are you laughing at me?"

Class: "NO!"

Ned: "Then what else is there in the room to laugh at?"

THE HONOR ROLL

Honor roll for the first grading period of this term included 36 pupils of the high school. This is about 10 per cent of the 370 pupils enrolled. Five per cent, 18, are boys and 13 per cent, 48, are girls.

Sophomores, with almost 15 per cent of the class on the honor roll, head the list. There are 10 pupils including two boys and eight girls, of the senior class receiving first and second honors.

Second place on the list is held by freshmen. This is nine per cent of the 123 enrolled in the class. In this class the boys and girls have seven honors and the girls had four honors.

The sophomores and juniors are very close. Juniors have a little more than eight per cent receiving honors which is seven of the 91 enrolled or two boys and five girls. Sophomores have about eight per cent which is eight pupils of the class or four boys and four girls.

First honors are granted to pupils receiving a grade of 90 or above in four or more subjects. Second honors indicate a grade of 85 or above in three subjects.

Following is a list of the honor roll:

Bud Miller suffered an injury to his shoulder this week which kept him from playing in the Grandview-Cincinnati game.

C. H. S. NEARLY LOSE COACH, ASSISTANT

Cincinnati High School, nearly lost its coach, assistant coach and several players Friday night, and if manager Lawrence Lane had not recovered his memory when he did, Coach Herbert Holz would still be in Marysville.

"Lane" took the coach's keys for safekeeping, and, in the confusion, rode to Columbus in his car. Upon stepping out on High street he discovered what he had done. To Bill Ashbrook he said, "I'll give you a dime if you go back to Marysville with these keys." Bill took them back but not for a dime. Ah, such is life.

E. M. S. Club Holds Meeting

Epsilon Mu Sigma made plans for future programs at its meeting, Monday evening, at Avonell Haecker's home.

The club has been divided into three groups, poetry, short stories and novels. At each meeting a member from each group will provide the entertainment. At the next meeting these will be Gene Rader, poems; John Mason, novels; and Marianna Bennett, short stories.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing various games. A luncheon of pumpkin pie and whipped cream, sand-wiches, pickles, cookies and cider was served by the hostess, Avonell Haecker, Martha Scholler and Sara May.

Hostesses at the next meeting will be Ellen Bennett, Rosemary Jackson and Gene Rader.

Junior Reserves Hold Party

The Junior Girls Reserve assembled in the high school gymnasium for a Halloween party, Thursday evening.

The members arrived in clever masquerade costumes and enjoyed the customary Halloween games and contests.

Various committees were appointed by the president, Elsie Ann Bremer, to take charge of the entertainment and refreshments.

Entertainment for the evening was in charge of Margie Mader, Eleanor Miller, Jane Drum, and Ruth Dunlap, and Virginia Cady, Virginia Caskey, Annie Denman and Mary Kennedy had charge of the refreshments, which consisted of wieners, sandwiches, pumpkin pie, and cider.

The evening was greatly enjoyed by the members of this club.

WHO IS IT?

A high stepping freshman lass is she

To hold her down it just can't be

She's drum-major of the junior band

For being good let's give her a hand

'Tis said that Gaylord's gone nuts 'bout her

Her initials on books and sweaters occur

Her father's a dry cleaner don'tcha know

Mighty girls from little dry cleaners grow!

LAST WEEK—Lloyd Leasure.

Halloween

By Louise Cummings

Halloween! Halloween! Many funny things are seen, Goblins, cats, big black bats, Witches, fairies, big black bats.

Scary? Oh! And How! Things that cause a row! Soaping windows, Oh! What fun! We don't stop at soaping one, Throwing corn, taking swings, Oh! What joy we get of things That we do in Halloween.

That's a time when ghosts are seen.

Halloween Celebrations Are Order Of Week's Activities

With the century-old Halloween event to be officially observed Monday evening, the past few days have seen a number of appropriate celebrations sponsored by church organizations, professional clubs and in private homes.

Many types of parties have been held during the past week, but the head-liner of them all is to be held Monday evening in the form of a carnival sponsored by several civic organizations to include a parade and a dance in front of the court house.

There will also be a number of other celebrations Monday including parties to be given by The Shining Light Bible Class of the United Brethren church, and the Methodist Sunday School class of Mrs. George Marion. Other home parties have also been planned.

Friday evening saw two church organizations and several house hostesses sponsoring Halloween good times.

The Ashville Athletic club sponsored a dance in the Harrison-twp village Friday evening with Bob Bearce and his orchestra furnishing music and entertainment.

The Cincinnati Athletic Club is giving a Halloween dance at the gymnasium this evening.

MRS. LLOYD JONES ENTERTAINS FOR SON

Sixteen small children, friends of the honored guest, enjoyed a delightfully planned Halloween birthday party given by Mrs. Lloyd Jones of W. Mount-st in honor of her son, Nelson, at the beautiful country home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Young in Pickaway-twp Friday evening.

The large room where the guests assembled was appropriately decorated in typical Halloween fashion and orange candles burned on the two tables where Mrs. Young served a delicious dinner at 6 p. m.

Games and contests were enjoyed, beginning at 4 p. m. David Yates won a prize for pinning the nose on a pumpkin and Hulse Hays and Howard Orr carried off honors for bobbing apples.

KING'S DAUGHTERS SPONSOR PARTY

The United Brethren community house was cleverly decorated in Halloween style for a party given by the King's Daughters of the church Friday evening.

Miss Minnie Merv won a prize for the most comical costume, and Miss Ethel Stonerock took the prize for the prettiest outfit. Prizes for the evening's contests and games went to Miss Helen Colville.

Besides members of the King's Daughters, other guests at the party included: Misses Belle Buehler, Helen Colville and Mary Elizabeth Groce.

Refreshments were served at a late hour by the committee composed of Misses Virginia Cady and Ethel Stonerock.

PARTY GIVEN AT NICKERSON HOME

Misses Betty Lee Nickerson, and Jean Theobald, were joint hostesses at a Halloween party at the former's home on S. Court-st Friday evening.

Twenty-seven guests, friends of the hostesses, enjoyed the affair, which began at 7 p. m. lasting until 10 o'clock.

Clark Hunsicker, Jr. won a cobweb contest and David Jackson and Phillip Moore entertained the guests with slight of hand tricks. Frank A. Lynch performed capably as a fortune teller.

Refreshments were served at a late hour to the guests and Miss Florence Hoffman and Mrs. P. S. Herberholz.

Mrs. Nickerson was assisted by Mrs. W. H. Theobald, Mrs. John Boggs and Miss Dorothy Glick.

BRIDGE CLUB ENJOYS PARTY

Miss Florence Tolbert of S. Scioto-st was hostess to her bridge club and an extra table of guests at a Halloween party given at her home Friday evening.

Bridge was the planned diversion of the evening and prizes were awarded Mrs. Robert Rader, Mrs. Lester Rummel and Mrs. Ralph McDill. Mrs. Frank Goff received guest prize.

Guests at the affair included Mrs. George Fessell, Mrs. F. C. Goff, Miss Mary Weller, Miss Cary Lamaster and Mrs. Guy Pettit.

Dying After Attack

Miss Albina Monkiewicz, of Brockton, Mass., a student at Boston University, who is near death in the Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, as the result of head injuries and disfigurement.

The girl was found near the Charles River, where she had apparently been savagely clubbed about the head.

the United Brethren church, E. Main-st.

A number of local persons heard Mrs. Johnson at the Stoutsville camp ground this summer. She is an interesting speaker.

Following Mrs. Johnson's talk, a doublet duet composed of Mrs. Ellen Heggie, Mrs. Fannie Green, Mrs. A. W. Morris and Mrs. J. B. Kirkpatrick will render several selections.

Rev. T. C. Harper will give the special objects of this year's offering, which will immediately follow taken by girls of the Otterbein Guild chapter. The choir also will be composed of girls from the chapter, as this is a joint service with the U. M. A.

The rest of the program includes: Call to worship; Song, "Oh Worship the King"; Scripture reading; Response readings; prayer; Song, "Oh Jesus I Have Promised"; Benediction given by Rev. Harper.

Members of the Ashville Mission Society will be guests of the local society for this meet.

LUTHERAN RALLY DAY SUNDAY

With its aim set at 500, a Rally Day will be held at Trinity Lutheran Sunday School in the Parish house Sunday morning.

Honored scholars will be the following 36 Cradle Roll members: Charles L. Weidinger, Robert E. Eitel, John D. Rittel, Charmade Schuler, Donald Lee Ott, Nancy Kay, Fredrick H. Walters, Joanne Robinson, Larry R. Edmunds, Peggy Lou Malden, Myron A. Pettit, James Carpenter, Nancy Ann Sensenbrenner, Vera Marilyn Troutman, Robert Lee Stout, Ned R. FAVOR BUCKEYE TEAM

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—Sam Willaman's Ohio State football lads today were heavy favorites to crush Wisconsin and win their first Big Ten game of the season in the Buckeye-Badger clash here this afternoon in Ohio Stadium.

The Buckeyes' supposed superiority expanded when Coach Clarence W. Spears of the Wisconsin team pointed out that Wisconsin's starting lineup will be outweighed 20 pounds to the man.

"When my boys discovered how big these Buckeye players really are, they became sort of panicky, but I quieted them down some by saying, 'Why get excited about these Ohio veterans? They have not killed anybody so far this season,'" Spears told the sports.

25,000 EXPECTED
A small crowd, probably of not more than 25,000, was expected. Buckeye enthusiasm has not been able to stage a complete comeback since Michigan whipped Ohio State here two weeks ago.

Willaman's team has the additional humiliation of being unable to score in the last two games.

Ohio State's regular backfield—Cramer, Carroll, Hinchman and Vuchinich—were declared in good shape to start the game but Junius Fernal, regular end, and Regis Monahan, regular tackle will be missing from the line.

Greg Kabat, Wisconsin guard, will be making a bid for a position.

"Buckets" Goldenberg, 215-pound Wisconsin tackle, will be out of the game, having been declared ineligible recently. The official offense listed against the star athlete was "cutting classes."

The probable lineups:

OHIO STATE	WISCONSIN
Salvatore	L. E. Haworth
Conrad	L. T. Molinaro
Varner	L. G. Kabat (C)
R. Smith	C. Koenig
Gallus	R. G. M. Pacetti
Rosquist	R. T. Thurmer
Gillman	R. E. Schneller
Cramer	Q. B. N. Pacetti
Hinchman	(C) L. H. Linfor
Carroll	R. H. McGuire
Vuchinich	F. B. H. Smith

CHAMPION WINS

Guy Zimmerman, Sax City, Iowa, gave a fine performance of that old sport of horse shoe pitching in the final of the department Friday afternoon when he gave exhibitions of fancy pitching.

In a contest arranged between Zimmerman and George Bowman of East Ringold, the former captively defended his honors by backing off with three contests. Each game was of 50 point duration. In the first Zimmerman won 50 to 1; the second 50 to 8 and the result of the third game could not be ascertained.

Milady's Gridiron Millinery

Here's an example of how football has gone to the heads of co-eds in colleges and universities throughout the land, these snappy autumn days. Helen de Bien and Helen Palka, of the Waite High School, Toledo, O., are shown up to their necks in football millinery as they root for their alma mammy. Their grid squad won national championship laurels in two previous years and is out to repeat this year.

Expect Western Gridders To Win Big Tilts Today

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Poor Pitt and poor Princeton!

Fair flowers of the East's football bouquet, they were spurned by buyers on all sides today, with hardly a brave soul liking them.

New York bookmakers, who record wagers from all over the country, reported they were willing to bet as high as 20 to 1 that Princeton could not win against Michigan at Ann Arbor this afternoon and Pitt was classed as almost in a lost cause in going up against the Notre-Dame's big touchdown factory at Pittsburgh. The Indiana invaders were favored 4 to 1.

But the bets on these two games were as few and far between as a full-blooded Irishman in the line-up of the gents from South Bend, said the betting agencies.

PURDUE FAVORED

Purdue, another Indiana outfit, playing New York University at Yankee stadium here, was an 18 to 5 choice over the Violets and Lou Little's Columbia team, engaging Cornell here at Baker Field, was quoted at 12 to 5 odds over Gil Dobie's crew from Ithaca.

The bookies rated Alabama 3 to 1 over Kentucky at Lexington. Michigan State was picked 13 to 5 over Syracuse in their up-state battle and Northwestern, playing at Minneapolis, was quoted a 3 to 2 favorite. Dartmouth was written down 11 to 5 over Yale at New Haven and Harvard ruled 13 to 5 over Brown at Cambridge.

All of the experts picked Notre Dame, Purdue and Michigan. They liked Fordham over Boston College, Holy Cross over Catholic University, Ohio State over Wisconsin, Vanderbilt over Georgia Tech, Stanford over California, Southern Branch, Penn over Navy, Auburn over Mississippi, Georgia over Florida, St. Mary's over Santa Clara, Duke over Tennessee, and Chicago over Illinois.

Some depressed graduate managers hoped for larger crowds to day with widely advertised cuts in ticket prices.

CROWDS EXPECTED

A mob of 62,000 was forecast for the Pitt-Notre Dame fray and St. Mary's-Santa Clara (Sunday game) was expected to draw 68,000 in San Francisco. Stanford-

U. C. L. A. may have a gate of 50,000.

Brown-Harvard were entertaining 40,000, Cornell-Columbia 40,000 and Purdue-New York University about 30,000. In Philadelphia, Penn-Navy were to thrill 40,000.

The Northwestern-Minnesota battle was booked for 40,000, Michigan-Princeton 35,000 and Dartmouth-Yale 25,000.

Oglethorpe-Manhattan may get a 20,000 crowd in the third New York City game. They meet at the Polo grounds; with the South-easterners slightly favored.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

It appears that a tie may again be the result of the Central Buckeye league football race with Bexley and Grandview again being the principals in the tangle. Bexley is now leading the Bobcats by virtue of having not lost a game while Grandview lost to Delaware, 6-0. Grandview and Bexley play each other in the last game of the season with the Zwick-men given a good chance to win. Last year Bexley had by far the best team but Grandview won in the final game to get a draw. Circleville hasn't defeated either Grandview or Bexley on the gridiron since the Central Buckeye league was formed.

Some grid scores:
Columbus North 19; West 0.
Columbus Central 12; Aquinas 0.
Furrow, Cincinnati, 6; Dayton Chamaine 0.
Withrow, Cincinnati, 6; Woodward 0.
Jackson 30; Oak Hill 0.
Hillsboro 7; Xenia 0.
Greenfield 7; Washington C. H. 6.
London 37; West Jefferson 2.

RE prognostications allowed?

Ohio State to beat Wisconsin by a slight margin.  A tie is possible.

Northwestern by a touchdown over Minnesota.

Chicago over Illinois.

Ohio Wesleyan by 14 points over Denison.

Notre Dame 20 points better than Pitt but the Smoky City team will score.

Miami over Wabash.

Cincinnati and Wittenberg—a draw.

ity rates of Ohio cannot be regulated as they were in the past by the courts," declared Warner. "The public utilities commission has proved itself incompetent. Let us do away with it completely."

City Solicitor Fred Gribbell of Deshler was elected vice president and City Manager R. P. Price of Hamilton was named secretary and treasurer.

Councilman Julian Pollak of Cincinnati, City Manager L. G. Whitney of Piqua and M. G. Irvin, superintendent of utilities at Norwalk, were elected members of the executive committee, to serve three, two and one years, respectively.

The constitution of the newly-formed association calls for the officers "to protect and safeguard the rights of the public of Ohio in their dealings with public utility corporations."

It also pledges the association "to investigate methods and policies of public utility corporations give full publicity to practices which shall be unfair, unethical or opposed to the public welfare."

A bureau of information will be set up to assist the scattered municipalities in their rate fights.

Municipal ownership was advocated by City Manager Price of Hamilton, who pointed to the success of his own city and of the success of Bellefontaine.

Leading Ohioans at the meeting "in sympathy with the movement" included City Manager C. A. Dykstra of Cincinnati, Former Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, and mayors of several other cities.

Lewis announced a meeting of the executive committee will be held Nov. 18 to further plans for the legislative contest.

HOOVER

governor's criticisms of the administration's alleged laxity in controlling issuance and sale of foreign bonds in this country. Mr. Hoover accused Governor Roosevelt of personally sponsoring the same thing about which he is now complaining, i. e. the sale of foreign securities to the American investing public.

The governor has the advantage on me in that particular," said Mr. Hoover. "As late as 1928 the governor engaged in that business for profit and actively participated in promoting such (foreign) loans. At that time he was chairman of the Federal International Banking company, a corporation organized for the purpose of selling foreign bonds and securities to the American public."

Mr. Hoover quoted from the prospectus of this company, which proclaimed its purpose "to put to sound protective uses a part of the surplus wealth of our nation."

"I have no reason," he added, "to believe that the governor's enterprise on this occasion was not perfectly proper and soundly founded. I do not wish to convey that impression. But the Governor as a private promoter for profit during the boom of 1928 believed and practiced what the Governor, as a presidential candidate, now denounces as immoral and a cause of our calamities."

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—New York Communists today planned to have a large delegation join the "hunger marchers" from throughout the country who propose to converge on Washington Dec. 4.

At a meeting sponsored by the National Committee of unemployed Councils, delegates, at the rate of 1 for every 100 idle in this city, were to be chosen.

CANDIDATES

Democratic nominee, and C. C. Chapplear, Republican, are seeking the non-partisan post of probate judge, now filled by E. A. Brown. Mr. Young won the nomination on his ticket and Mr. Chapplear filed as an independent after the primary.

Another contest is found between Earl L. Hoffman, Democrat asking reelection as treasurer, and Ed C. McClarren, running as an independence for the office.

Sheriff Charles Radcliff, Clerk Ferd M. Pickens and Coroner C. E. Bowers are unopposed.

ADDRESSES HEARD

The state ticket is drawing as much if not more interest than the country "squabble." Both parties, Democratic and Republican, have been hearing a large number of speeches praising the merits of both Governor George White, whom it appears in recent straw vote figures, has been gaining on his Republican opponent, and David S. Ingalls, G. O. P. nominee.

The outcome of this contest is one of prime interest all over the nation.

The minor state candidates have not been in the limelight so much because of the great amount of space being given the gubernatorial and national candidates.

One of the hottest fights, which has seen hundreds upon hundreds of words tossed back and forth, is that for the United States Senate between Robert J. Bulkley, Democrat, and Gilbert Bettman, Republican. These men have debated, have assailed each other in platform addresses and have done just about every thing to make their campaigns torrid. Bulkley has been leading in practically all of the straw votes conducted through the state.

Meil G. Underwood, Democrat, has been carrying on a strenuous campaign for reelection as Representative to Congress from the District. His Republican opponent, David Lewis of Perry-co, has also been working.

Not much has been heard from the campaign for state senate between Stanley Schwartz and August Weber, Democrats, and Robert Pfeiffer and Paul R. Gingham, Republicans. All the men are from Columbus.

FINANCES TO BE DISCUSSED

Superintendent of Dayton Schools on Program; Collicott Elected.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 29.—School finances of Ohio were scheduled for a thorough airing today before 10,000 teachers gathered here at the 63rd annual convention of the Central Ohio Teachers' association.

Dr. C. V. Courtier, superintendent of Dayton schools, which have been required to operate in a part-time schedule due to shortage of funds, headed the committee on resolutions which studied the financial question at a long meeting last night.

The report of his committee was to be placed before the association for rejection or acceptance today. Superintendent J. G. Collicott of the Columbus schools was elected president of the association last night, succeeding Glenn Drummond of Bellefontaine. Dr. Collicott won the office over Charles W. Plessinger of Dayton.

Dr. Bert Highlands, superintendent of schools at Miamisburg, was elected vice president, and W. C. Rohleder, superintendent at Grandview, was named a member of the executive committee.

ALLEGED THIEVES TO GET HEARINGS

City police were busy Friday night and Saturday lodging alleged thieves in the city bastille on charges of stealing coal from Chesapeake and Ohio and Norfolk & Western railroad cars.

William Trussell, E. Union-st Rance Wolfe and Pearl Arledge, were arrested Friday night on charges preferred by the Chesapeake and Ohio. The arrests were made by City Officers Fitzpatrick and McManamy. While Richard Dawson, George Violette, Maggie Payne and John Payne were arrested for alleged theft from the Norfolk & Western railroad.

Hearing for the prisoners was to be held at 1 p. m.

ENTERS HOSPITAL

Miss Ann Ryan, an employee of the Citizens Telephone Co., was admitted to Berger hospital for treatment Saturday morning.

A heavy ledger fell on her recently and she is thought to be suffering from a chest disorder.

Attorney Barton Walters has been confined to his residence the past four days suffering from a heavy cold, but is now much improved and expects to return to his office on Monday.

LEAVES FOR EAST

Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Allen, S. Court-st, will leave this evening for Baltimore, Md., where Dr. Allen will enter John Hopkins hospital for observation.

FRANK AND AL

wreathed in smiles as he placed a cigarette in an ivory holder.

For just a moment there was silence. Then the voice of President Hoover, speaking at Indianapolis, reverberated through the mansion as some one in the next room snapped on the radio.

"Is everything harmonious now?" someone asked.

"You don't see any blood on us, do you?" said Smith, smiling.

"Can we say it's Frank and Al again?" was the next question. Blowing a cloud of cigar smoke, Smith answered: "If we were Frenchmen we'd kiss each other on the cheek, but being Americans we just shook hands."

The harmony conference developed on the invitation of Gov. Roosevelt, who called. Smith on the telephone a few minutes after the latter arrived in Albany last night on his way from Boston to Buffalo and asked him to come to the mansion.

"Sure I'll be there," Smith told Roosevelt, and a few hours later he was sitting in the mansion beside the man whose nomination he so bitterly opposed at the Chicago convention.

When the interview finally broke up, Smith slapped Gov. Roosevelt on the leg and said: "You'd better get some sleep for yourself, Frank."

Smith said that he had told Gov. Roosevelt that the New England states which he had visited in the last few days "were safe for the Democratic national ticket."

10 a. m. Bible School. Lord's Supper and Sermon.

6:30 p. m. Young People's meeting.

7:30 Praise service and preaching.

Hour of prayer and Bible study Wednesday 7:30 p. m. at the residence of the minister, 203 W. Mill st.

The new feature of one of the young people giving a short talk just before the evening sermon is creating an unusual interest. The young people prove themselves to be up and coming on the problems of today. We shall have another talk from them Lord's Day night on vital statistics from the U. S. Census concerning the results of human life, etc. Young people are more wide awake to the problems that face the next generation than most people think.

The Church Invites You

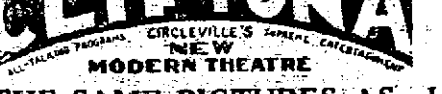

RELIGIOUS PARTICIPATION

It is a noble appeal which calls us from the cares of the world to find rest at the foot of the cross. Where else can the weary and troubled soul find poise and calm? One who desires to become a fully developed christian will not stop there, however. He not only seeks rest but growth. That is secured through participation in worship.

There are four words used by Jesus which might well be key words for a church program. They are Come, Follow, Abide and Go. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?

The Apostle Paul tells us how he prayed earnestly for the removal of a thorn in his flesh. His prayer was denied but he was assured "My Grace is Sufficient for Thee." Paul went on to a magnificent piece of work despite his limitations. What do we do with our limitations? Lay hold upon it as an excuse? We make of ourselves heroes or cowards in the way we deal with ourselves. We are tired on Sunday morning and cannot get up in time for church. We are indifferent but we make no fight to overcome our indifference. We are spiritually dull but we do nothing to quicken our soul's apprehension. We use our limitations as excuses to justify ourselves for our failure to do the great task God has given us to do. The church helps you to see, to strive, to conquer. Go to church tomorrow. Take a friend.

Home Education

THE RIGHT KIND OF HOME

The three marks of the right kind of a home to make the right kind of American boy are simplicity, consistency and piety.

A simple home is one that is the center of affectionate self-denial and mutual forbearance. When a boy discovers that his parents find their greatest satisfaction elsewhere than in the home, then the boy also will follow the group instinct as it leads him to the gang and to the street.

The second mark of a good home is consistency. The parental discipline of the home is to be maintained, not by precepts, but by the consistent conduct of the parents themselves. A boy who is not easily moved by exhortation may be affected with extraordinary ease by contagion. If he observe any considerable inconsistency between precept and example, between exhortation and character, all the well intended efforts of his home are likely to be in vain.

Out of the simplicity and consistency of a good home, issues its third characteristic. It is that relation between children and their parents whose historical name is piety. Piety, in its Latin usage, was the name for the duty and loyalty of a child to its parents, or of a wife to her husband.

We have no right to take from civilization more than we give. In the boat of life, you should pull at the very least your own weight.

Worship is to give dignity to cultivation. Cultivation is to fill emotional worship with a sense of intellectual value.

It matters not how many but how good books you have.

You can spend saved money, but you can't save spent money.

How may the teacher deal with pupils in the Sunday school who are not regular in attendance?

The teacher should never allow a pupil to miss a single Sunday without doing two or more of the following things:

1. Let the teacher make a personal call or telephone the absent pupil.

2. If for some reason the teacher cannot get in touch with the pupil then get in touch with the parents and find out if there has been illness preventing the child's attendance.

3. Designate two or three members of the class to call on the absent member.

4. If the pupil is absent the second Sunday, have follow-up calls made by the pastor, superintendent or assistant superintendent if the above plans have not been successful.

5. Make a personal call on the parents and ask for their cooperation in helping keep the child in the Sunday school.

6. Have the secretary furnish the superintendent and pastor with a list of absentees each Sunday, and if there is continued absence, have a close follow up.

Those who are freely justified in Christ will live and walk as follows:

1. Restore the sinning brother (v. 1). "Restore" is a surgical term which means the placing back of a dislocated member to its place. We are members of the body of Christ, and the sinning of a brother ought as really to give us pain as the dislocation of a member of our body.

2. Bear one another's burdens (v. 24). Many are the burdens of life. Christ is the supreme burden bearer.

3. Bear our own burdens (v. 5).

4. Support teachers of God's Word (v. 6, 9). It is incumbent upon those who are taught in the Word of God to give of their means for the support of the teacher.

5. Be not weary in well doing (v. 9). Some fail of the reward because they give up even when the goal is about to be reached.

During one fourth of the period of our nationhood, there have been

The records of Sing Sing show that ninety seven per cent of the prisoners were never associated with any boys' club or any other boys learn how to spend their leisure in wholesome recreation.

Ninety per cent were not actively interested in church organization.

A plea for unity between the Baptist, Congregational and Presbyterian churches in England has been issued by a group of about fifty leaders of the three denominations. They plead for an outward organization that will correspond both to the needs of the situation and to the inner truth of the spiritual relations of the churches so that they may play their part more worthily in winning the world for Christ.

LESSON for October 30

THE CHRISTIAN AND LAW OBSERVANCE

(World's Temperance Sunday.)

Romans 13:1-7; 1 Corinthians 9:19-27; Galatians 6:1-10; 1 Peter 2:11-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap; Galatians 6:7.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Laws for Me to Keep.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Why We Have Laws.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Observing the Law for the Sake of Others.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Church and Law Observance.

I. The Christian Obligation to the State (Romans 13:1-7).

The believer is a citizen as well as a Christian. The instructed Christian will be loyal to the state as well as to the church.

1. Obedience to rulers (v. 1-4). This obligation is upon all Christians. The reason is that civil government is ordained of God and rulers are his representatives.

2. The spirit in which the Christian renders obedience to rulers (v. 5). He should regard it as his obligation, not only because it serves a good purpose but because it is morally right.

3. Method of expressing this obedience (v. 6, 7).

a. In payment of taxes. The citizen who enjoys its benefits is morally bound to support the government.

b. Payment of duty upon merchandise and license fees. The business exchange between nations must be regulated, and for this the citizen should pay.

c. Veneration to magistrates, "to whom fear." Those who have the fear of God in their hearts will venerate their rulers and representatives.

d. "Honor to whom honor" is due. Civil officers should be honored because of the ministry they perform.

II. The Christian's Self-Control (1 Cor. 9:19-27).

The true way to get people to be free from intemperance is to help them to gain self-control.

1. Paul's own life and example (vv. 19-23). Though free from all men, he made himself servant unto all.

2. The Isthmian games (vv. 24-27). Paul uses these popular games to illustrate the need of self-control.

a. Life is a race (v. 24-25). In order to win a prize there must be self-denial and definite exertion. The Christian obtains life by contact with Jesus Christ through faith (John 3:16; 3:36; 5:24). This he must possess before he can begin the race.

b. It is a fight (v. 26, 27). The Christian has a real antagonist. He has a deadly struggle with his carnal nature.

III. The Christian Life and Walk in the Spirit (Gal. 6:1-10).

Those who are freely justified in Christ will live and walk as follows:

1. Restore the sinning brother (v. 1). "Restore" is a surgical term which means the placing back of a dislocated member to its place. We are members of the body of Christ, and the sinning of a brother ought as really to give us pain as the dislocation of a member of our body.

2. Bear one another's burdens (v. 24). Many are the burdens of life. Christ is the supreme burden bearer.

3. Bear our own burdens (v. 5).

4. Support teachers of God's Word (v. 6, 9). It is incumbent upon those who are taught in the Word of God to give of their means for the support of the teacher.

5. Be not weary in well doing (v. 9). Some fail of the reward because they give up even when the goal is about to be reached.

OBITUARY

Leaves have their time to fall, and flowers to wither; but thou hast all seasons for thine own. O, Death! How hard it is to say good-bye to our friends and loved ones!

Death enters our homes, and lays an icy hand upon the loved ones whom he chooses, and they pass out, and are no more. We have loved the light of many a smile that has faded from us now, hushed in silence by death.

But amidst all our heart aches, there comes to us the words, "The Lord Giveth and the Lord Taketh Away."

Sarah Kidney, daughter of Armond and Elizabeth Moore Kidney, was born near Grange Hall, Pickaway County, Dec. 20, 1866, and departed this life Oct. 21, 1932, at the age of 65 years, 10 months, 1 day.

The subject of this sketch was one of a family of six children, two sisters and three brothers, having preceded her in death. She was identified with the M. E. church, at Hebron, and Sunday school, church and Sunday school, while health permitted, but in later years became an invalid which deprived her of many privileges. Since the tragic death of her brother John, she was taken into the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Yinger, and there she was tenderly cared for, as one of their own family.

At all times loving hands were ready to administer to her every want and need.

Mrs. Yinger and Miss Gladys made it possible for her to spend many happy days in their home, and great respect was shown her by all the family.

She resteth now, no more her breast.

Heaven with a weary breath, said: "No longer on the brow Where lies the calm of death, Sunk to her rest, like a tired child."

She lies in slumber deep, Soft folded in the arms of Him Who guided his beloved sleep.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity of thanking each and every one who assisted us in any way during the sickness and death of our dear friend, Miss Sarah Kidney.

Members of the Thursday afternoon bridge club of Mrs. Homer Swartz assembled at her home on S. Washington-st. yesterday, for an interesting game.

Bridge was in play at two tables and score prizes were awarded Mrs. George Dresbach, Mrs. Lester Coate and Mrs. Harry Clifton. The serving of refreshments brought the pleasant party to a close.

The next club meeting will be at the home of Mrs. John Ward of E. Union-st.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS HAS HALLOWEEN PARTY

Members of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school class taught by Miss Ozella Hosler enjoyed a Halloween party Thursday evening at the home of Wahnta Barnhart of Montclair-ave.

The decorations and the games were in keeping with Halloween. Lunch was served at the conclusion of the pleasant evening.

Enjoying the affair were Dorothy Avis, Wahnta Barnhart, Fay Elliott, Alma Hosler, Marjorie Leach, Rose Mary Metzger, Eleanor Radcliff, June West and Benedine Yates.

BUSINESS WOMEN HAVE MASQUERADE

Fall flowers and halloween symbols decorated the club rooms and featured appointments for the lunch at the masquerade party held Thursday evening by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

About 20 members and guests enjoyed the delightful evening spent in games and contests. Miss Elma Rains received prize for guessing the greatest number of the masked guests. Dr. Isa E. Carr of Kenton, a guest, and Miss Mary Wilder received prizes in the other games and contest. The entertainment for the evening was in charge of Mrs. Mary Morris.

Refreshments were served by the social committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Erna Gehres.

U. B. LADIES HAVE MONTHLY SESSION

The Ladies Aid Society of the United Brethren church met in regular session Thursday afternoon at the Community house with the president, Mrs. William Hegele presiding.

The meeting was opened with a song and devotional readings were given by Mrs. James Pierce. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Jennie Steele.

Following the business session Rev. T. C. Harper gave a short talk. Mrs. M. C. Kirkwood was in charge of the program which consisted of a selection by the ladies quartette composed of Mrs. A. H. Morris, Mrs. William Hegele, Mrs. J. R. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Elly Greeno.

Readings by Mrs. Roy Groce and Mrs. Jennie Steele were followed by vocal solo, "Every Prayer Will Find Its Answer" by Miss Lucille Kirkwood accompanied at the piano by Miss Nelle Denman.

A reading, "Grandma the Judge" by Mrs. M. C. Kirkwood and a song by the group concluded the program. Mrs. John Neuding will be in charge of the program for the November meeting.

Refreshments were served at the close of the session by the October committee including Mrs. Ed McClarren, chairman, Mrs. C. O. Kerns, Mrs. John Kerns, Mrs. Fred Zwicker, Mrs. John Goff and Miss Cora Humphreys.

HIGH-SIXTH GRADE HAS HALLOWEEN PARTY

The pupils of Miss Sophia Parks sixth grade at High-st. school enjoyed a Halloween party and masquerade from 4 to 6 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the school building.

Jack o'lanterns, witches, cats, owls and all the halloween decorations made the room attractive. The two hours were spent in games and contests. Iva Bell Teets and Jane Huffer received prizes for guessing the most masked persons and Otis Anderson won the bobbing apple contest. Bobby Parks was a guest at the party.

Refreshments were served which brought the pleasant afternoon to a close.

86 ATTEND COUNTRY CLUB PARTY THURSDAY

Among the Halloween parties one of the jolliest and prettiest was that given at the Pickaway Country club, Thursday evening, for members and guests of the club.

The delightful affair was in charge of the house committee Dr. G. D. Phillips, Mrs. Frank Bennett, Miss Ann Bennett, Robert Criswell and Mrs. Howard Moore.

Mack Mader was chairman of the decorating committee. The club rooms, dimly lighted with pumpkin lanterns, were created into a weird scene with all the appropriate Halloween decorations.

Eighty-six members and guests participated in the evening of fun spent in various forms of entertainment, which followed the barbeque dinner at 6:15 o'clock. The party was pronounced one of the best of the season.

40 ATTEND LUTHER LEAGUE MASQUERADE

The annual Halloween party and masquerade of the Luther League of Trinity Lutheran church was held in the church basement Thursday evening. About 40 members and guests assembled for the party.

The basement was transformed into a weird scene, with fodder, witches and owls. Pumpkin lanterns cast a dim light over the scene making it doubly spooky.

Prizes for the best costumes went to Roma Melvin, dressed as a colonial girl, for the best character portrayed and Mrs. Marion Senbrenner was chosen as the most comically dressed person.

Games and contests were in charge of the entertainment committee Miss Mary Crist, Miss William Haacker and Hillard Gehres.

A Halloween lunch was served during the evening by the August and October committees under the chairmanship of Mrs. Floyd Weller and Miss Charlotte Caskey.

"Mixed" Voting Expected To Make Returns Slower

COLUMBUS, Oct. 28.—Hopes that the elimination of candidates for presidential electors from the ballot this year would materially speed up the tabulation of returns election night—November 8—were blasted today by state election experts.

Prediction was made today by these experts that, in all probability, there will be far more "mixed" voting in the selection of state and local officials than occurred during the presidential election in the Buckeye state four years ago.

SEE SLOW RETURNS

As a result, they declared, tabulation of returns on election night will be about as slow as it was four years ago when the separate presidential ballot carried the names of the candidates for presidential electors on six different party tickets as well as the party nominees for president and vice president.

Due to a revision of the state's election laws at the last regular session of the state legislature, the names of the presidential electoral candidates will not appear upon the ballot and, instead of their being separate ballots for national and state county candidates, a single ballot will contain all of the national, state and county tickets.

The expressed opinion of some county election officials that the tabulation of election returns would be speeded up approximately 30 per cent as a result of the removal of the presidential electoral candidates from the ballot could only come true, state election experts said, if there is "very little scratching" and most of the voters "vote straight."

MIXED VOTING

Belief on the part of these election experts that "there will be a tremendous amount of mixed voting" November 8 was based in part upon reports reaching the statehouse from local election officials and party workers in various sections of the state.

Another factor which, they believed, will materially increase the number of "mixed" ballots is the alleged unprecedented situation in the Republican party in Ohio this year. Never before, it was claimed, has a presidential campaign in the Buckeye state been marked by "such lack of co-operation among G. O. P. party nominees and workers."

Claim was made that David S. Ingalls, the Republican gubernatorial nominee, has been setting up his own, independent local organizations in the counties throughout the state and that he has refused to permit the regular G. O. P. county committees to direct the local campaign on behalf of the governorship.

Many of these committees, prior to the April primary election at which Ingalls defeated Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown and former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, for the gubernatorial nomination, openly endorsed and supported Brown's candidacy.

Other G. O. P. nominees for state offices, it was claimed, were forced to set up, to a considerable extent, along independent local organizations because of the alleged "pattern" set by Ingalls.

This situation, state election experts insisted, will result in an "unusually large number of mixed ballots, with a consequent slowing up in the tabulating of election returns."

In an analysis of "how the same voters voted in 1928" Roosevelt is shown obtaining 37.19 per cent of his strength from former Republican voters, which is an increase over the ratio he received in last week's returns. The same analysis indicates that Hoover is obtaining 36.61 per cent of his votes from former Republican voters and 6.09 per cent from former Democrats, which ratios are practically the same as those reported last week.

It is revealed also that Roosevelt continues to obtain more votes from those who voted for his rival in 1928 than from members of his own party in the twelve states of California, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Roosevelt continues his lead in the Republican stronghold of Pennsylvania, where the vote is divided 120,054 Democratic and 88,885 Republican.

Massachusetts still gives Hoover the largest plurality he receives in any state. He leads his Democratic rival here by a vote of 57,707 to 33,023. Governor Roosevelt continues to show a clear majority in thirty-nine states in the polling up-to-date.

Kansas, regarded by many as a doubtful state, now shows a vote of 27,757 for Roosevelt to 22,372 for Hoover.

In California, the home state of the President, the Democratic candidate has a lead of 143,584 votes to 77,875.

Texas, which was registered in the Hoover column four years ago, now shows a vote of over 4 to 1 Democratic.

Democrats Lead In All But Seven

Franklin D. Roosevelt is shown holding his lead of 3 to 2 over Hoover in the semifinal returns of The Literary Digest's nation-wide Presidential poll, according to tomorrow's issue of the magazine, which gives a tabulation of nearly 3,000,000 votes. This is a larger return, it is announced than the final returns of the 1928 Literary Digest poll.

Of a total of 2,933,600 votes, Roosevelt has 56.19 percent, or 1,648,237 votes, while Hoover has 37.33 percent, or 1,095,274 votes, and Thomas has 141,992 votes, or 4.84 per cent of the total counted.

Hoover shows a slight gain from 37.19 per cent of the total vote which he had last week.

Hoover continues to carry the seven States of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Jersey with only scant changes shown in the week's balloting in any of them.

Roosevelt continues to carry all of the other forty-one States. With over 300,000 additional ballots received and counted during the past week mailed from every section of the country, neither candidate shows a gain or loss in any State of more than 1 per cent.

In a division of the vote, for apportionment in the Electoral College the semifinal returns, would give Roosevelt 474 electoral votes to Hoover's 87.

The vote in New York continues to be closer than in any other State, although still carried by Roosevelt, making the outcome here still doubtful. Roosevelt is polling 167,054 votes to Hoover's 157,845, a very slight increase for the President over last week's returns.

The race is also very close in Delaware, where Roosevelt's lead has been cut from plurality of 202 votes last week to 175 votes this week out of a total of 4,997 cast.

Democrats Lead In All But Seven

Franklin D. Roosevelt is shown holding his lead of 3 to 2 over Hoover in the semifinal returns of The Literary Digest's nation-wide Presidential poll, according to tomorrow's issue of the magazine, which gives a tabulation of nearly 3,000,000 votes. This is a larger return, it is announced than the final returns of the 1928 Literary Digest poll.

Of a total of 2,933,600 votes, Roosevelt has 56.19 percent, or 1,648,237 votes, while Hoover has 37.33 percent, or 1,095,274 votes, and Thomas has 141,992 votes, or 4.84 per cent of the total counted.

Hoover shows a slight gain from 37.19 per cent of the total vote which he had last week.

Hoover continues to carry the seven States of Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Jersey with only scant changes shown in the week's balloting in any of them.

Roosevelt continues to carry all of the other forty-one States. With over 300,000 additional ballots received and counted during the past week mailed from every section of the country, neither candidate shows a gain or loss in any State of more than 1 per cent.

In a division of the vote, for apportionment in the Electoral College the semifinal returns, would give Roosevelt 474 electoral votes to Hoover's 87.

HEART STRINGS

SYNOPSIS

Life to lovely Patricia Braithwaite was a series of parties, trips abroad and now—Palm Beach. Her castles crumble when her Aunt Pamela informs her that Mr. Braithwaite's fortune is depleted and suggests that Patricia marry the wealthy, middle-aged, Harvey Blaine to insure her own and her father's future, warning her that love fades. Aunt Pam's marriage with Jimmie Warren—handsome, young lawyer—was beginning to pall in spite of the ardent love they had had for each other. They still cared but the routine of married life had made them "less lovers and more friends." Stunned by her aunt's revelations, Patricia is seriously considering Blaine to save the father she adores, when she meets a fascinating young camper, who only reveals his first name, "Jack." Despite their instant attraction for one another, Patricia discourages future meetings. That night, Patricia cautions Blaine to be a matter-of-fact and not sentimental in trying to win her, stressing the point that his one advantage is the fact that Patricia is desperately hard up and worships her father, who lives for Pat alone. His financial predicament is largely due to the gradual caving in of his plantation. His honesty prevented him from taking advantage of an opportunity to sell the property. Braithwaite tries to belittle his difficulties, but she realizes he is just trying to shield her and that Aunt Pam was right. She accepts Blaine's proposal.

CHAPTER NINE

After dinner she hurried to her room. She could not decide what to wear. It seemed a matter of high importance. She changed three times. Finally settled on a blue tulle dress with pink satin with stems and leaves of green twisted ribbon. Crystal beads glowed like dew on the soft petals and foliage. The blue of her eyes, the gold of her hair were deepened by the enchanting frock.

She smiled wistfully at her reflection and began dramatizing herself, finding therein a strange satisfaction. She could hear her people saying, "So young and lovely. How could she sacrifice her young life to that man—even for her father?" Absorbed in the ravishing figure in the mirror, she felt the terrible pity of it all, and pondered over her own difference. She must be a very different person who, having decided, no longer even felt sad over it.

Arthur Savage phoned up at ten o'clock. "Come on, Pat. The music has moved to the ballroom. The king's collecting."

Blaine was watching for her at the foot of the stairs, and her glow of gallant martyrdom expired. She descended slowly, a very sick little girl.

But Arthur was also waiting. In a swift dash he caught her, whirled her away to the ballroom, leaving Mr. Blaine to stare after them. In and out among the dancers they swept with a rush and brilliance that threatened continual disaster, but never achieved it. "I'm going to dance you to death tonight and bury you tomorrow so no other man will ever get you, you beautiful thing," he said savagely. His whole body shivered with increasing violence, his feet cutting high capers. Handsome dark face down-bent, eyes glinted on his feet, he appeared lank, absorbed, grotesque.

"Glorious! Oh, Arthur, Go faster!" To go faster. And faster. So that the slow pace of the old man she had promised to marry could never catch up with her. "I'll die if he touches me..."

"If Jack comes I'm going to tell me?" chuckled Mr. Braithwaite.

him everything," she decided defiantly. So planning was this picture of herself as a martyr in Jack's eyes that she grew pleasantly melancholy.

One night at least would be hers. A night of moonlight and dreaming beautiful, foggy dreams with a young man. One night of romance. And perhaps who could say strange things happened in life.

She drew in her mind a highly imaginative picture of Jack swooping her up like an eagle and sailing away over mountains and tall forests to a mountainous estate. The Eagle's Nest. Then she smiled at her own childishness.

"Am I in love with—a strange young man, met—by the side of the road? ... Oh, absurd."

To Warren, watching her from the semi-darkness of the veranda, it appeared that as an exquisite canvas takes on new beauty under each tentative stroke of an artist, so with each move she took on new grace.

Pamela joined her husband. "I must be very trying for Cousin John to keep Pat as he does. Fortunately she's beautiful. Forunately Blaine just whispered to me as a secret, that she has promised to marry him."

"Harvey Blaine! Good heavens! Twenty years older than she is, with a face like a horse."

"His face is of no importance. He's enormously wealthy."

Swept by a confusion of emotions, Warren turned back to the dancers. "By heaven!" he thought, "she can't be sacrificed!"

It would be no easy task to force his money on her proud old father; but somehow he would find a way to save Pat.

Women in pastel frocks and men in flannel trousers and black coats gave to the big palm-clad ballroom an appearance of impossible bloom. Birds in cages cunningly concealed among ornamental bowers of green, and delicate by the brilliance of the room, sang loudly, their high sweet voices lifting clear and triumphant above the bombastic orchestra.

Now and again a couple would dash through one of the French windows onto the veranda; but for the most part the girls never stopped dancing, going from partner to partner as the young men, ranged around the walls, would cut their causing a general change. The older people sat outside in rocking chairs, resting between dances in the soft fragrance of the moon-flooded night.

Patricia's energy was amazing. Her color was never, her eyes feverishly bright. Never had she appeared more lovely.

"That child has been dancing two hours without stopping. She needs a rest," said Mr. Braithwaite who stood near Warren. He crossed to the window, and catching Patricia's eye after a moment, motioned to her. Instantly she deserted her partner.

"My dear," said Mr. Braithwaite as she came through the window, "I apologize for being a selfish old man to take you away from pleasure to have an ice and a little chat with me. But I had no taste for a solitary drink."

Knowing that the old man had called her for no other purpose than to stop her from dancing, Warren was surprised. Instead of reproving and dictating to her to rest, he had turned it into a courteous request which complimented and commanded her.

Snuggling one of her father's arms against her she said, "Perfectly right, Dad. Two hours are much too long to go without an ice."

"You see how she sees through me?" chuckled Mr. Braithwaite.

"Come, Jimmie, let's find Aunt Pam," Patricia said, "and we'll have a party. I saw her leave the ballroom on the other veranda a little while ago."

She caught his arm, and holding her father close, became intent on falling into step with the two men. "I think I see the shine of her dress. I hope that handsome old Deacon she was dancing with isn't making love to her while I, like the villainess in the play, surprise them by bringing her husband on the scene."

"Aunt Pam!" she called, "your husband approaches."

"Thank you, Pat," laughed Mrs. Warren. "We just had time to change our arms." Patricia Warren, having no ear for the sly wit of her husband or the whimsical humor of Mr. Braithwaite and Patricia, was adept in the art of sophisticated banter which passed for humor in her set.

Her distinguished companion, who had obviously been engaged in a surprised glance at her and looked at Warren in some confusion.

"Oh, don't be disturbed, Carroll. Warren said, 'A lawyer lives by entanglements, and views them as an undertaker does death—necesse sary circumstance.'"

"Mr. Carroll, you'll excuse Mrs. Warren, won't you, while she has an ice—with her husband?" asked Patricia with assumed subtlety.

"Certainly, Certainly," Mr. Carroll was a protagonist of cleanliness and felt that this proper sounding conversation hid improper suggestions.

"I'm afraid he was shocked," chuckled Warren as they walked away.

"We might have asked him to join us," said Pamela.

"I arranged my question so he wouldn't, in case somebody did ask him," confessed Patricia. "We are going to have a party, not a lecture. Let's have it in the lounge. A grill is so grimy, grubby, gruesome and—oh heavens, I can't think of another alliterative word."

"Perfect," supplied Warren. "Grubby, Grubby and gregarious really express it fully. I don't press the other words. You see, I've heard of the laws, Jimmie. No press means kick out, doesn't it?"

"Something like."

Their entrance created a little stir among the lounge idlers. Patricia was sustained by youth's infatuation with the future, the secret conviction that a tall brown young man would immediately ask her and her father to elope with him from the hideous alternatives of poverty or a life of sin.

Blaine, all evening she had confidently waited. She still waited. As such, she was thrillingly aware of the admiration their entrance had aroused.

Her approving glance swept her courtly old father and the big boyishness of Warren, rested pleasantly upon the languid exotic beauty of her cousin in a simply made gown of gold cloth. "The buzz is for her," thought Patricia. But recalling the picture her mirror had presented of her own self body rising like the pistol of a flower from her bouffant frock of blue veiling, she hoped that it might also include herself. Not that she thought of the compar on of the flower; but she knew her gown was very becoming.

Her bobbed head was a whorl of curled gold. A string of coral, like graduated dew drops, quivered against the proud column of her throat. Warren thought she looked like some quaint beauty of long ago who had somehow acquired the easy self-assurance of the modern girl. Pamela marked the girl's bright face in some surprise.

Care of Chronic Bronchitis Essential To Avoid Danger

Many Neglect This Trouble, Which Often Follows a Winter Cold, Causing a Weakening of the Heart and, in Children, Frequent Cases of Broncho-Pneumonia.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

CHRONIC bronchitis, like the common cold, is one of the human ailments too frequently neglected. It usually attacks persons of middle age, but may affect children.

Dr. Copeland

It may follow an infection of the nose and throat. In adults the disorder is of a chronic nature, perhaps hanging on throughout the winter months. Frequently it follows a winter cold and cough. Breathing becomes difficult.

The sufferer complains of shortness of breath upon the slightest exertion. A hacking and distressing cough is always present.

Too often chronic bronchitis is looked upon as a minor disturbance. This is a mistake, for when neglected or ignored the persistent coughing may strain the heart muscle.

Indeed, most persons with chronic bronchitis have some heart disturbance. The heart may become enlarged and weakened, and unable to carry on its work in proper manner.

Persons suffering from chronic bronchitis are susceptible to other infections. This is particularly true of children. Broncho-pneumonia frequently occurs in little folks suffering from chronic bronchitis.
